

As a municipality we were saddened to hear about the tragedy that took place within our boundaries over this past weekend. Events such as this remind us of how fragile life is.

Out of respect for the family and the community we will not be releasing the names of any individuals involved in the event, as that is not in our scope of responsibility.

We want to thank the various emergency services involved in this event, namely the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP), Ambulance Attendants and our own Volunteer Medical First Responders and Firefighters.

If there is further information to be made public, we will defer to the RCMP and other agencies for the release of any such information.
